[REDACTED] Advised Mr. Phineas, of the House Government Operations Subcommittee on Executive and Legislative Reorganization staff, that our people had reviewed the language which the Committee proposes to use in amending H. R. 7865 and that we had some problems with this proposed revision. Indritz expressed some surprise at this saying he couldn't understand why this language would bother us unless it relates to the reference to "full-time employees." He said the Committee had a letter from Deputy Attorney General White which indicated that unlike work of a security or protective nature, investigative activity was generally a sensitive function and, therefore, one which should not be entrusted to persons outside the Government. I advised Indritz that I was not aware of the exact nature of the problem, but indicated we would like to discuss this language with the person or persons in the Department of Justice who had proposed it in order that we might have the benefit of their purpose and feeling on the subject. Indritz said his contacts in Justice had been with Mr. Koffsky and Miss [REDACTED] in Mr. White's office. Indritz added that while the Committee had no strong feeling concerning this precise language he felt that if we were not in agreement with it we should be prepared to testify on the bill or in some other way make our position so precise and clear that there would be no doubt in the minds of the Committee members as to our objections. I told Indritz we would discuss this with the Department of Justice and be in touch with him in the next few days.
